

Sustainability Reporting and Disclosures

Barbara M. Porco | Timothy P. Hedley | Steven M. Mintz

Overview

Students will explore the fundamentals of sustainability reporting and disclosures, with a focus on environmental, social, and governance dimensions. Tailored for a diverse audience—including undergraduates, MAcc, and MBA students—the content highlights the vital role of accounting in addressing sustainability challenges. Through modular chapters encompassing the most widely recognized frameworks and standards, learners will build critical-thinking and problem-solving skills to assess sustainability practices and make responsible decisions that align with those principles.
